The Climb

“ There is no elevator to success. You have to use the stairs. In other words, you have to climb the mountain yourself – but you don’t have to climb it alone”

“ Success is defined as knowing your purpose in life – growing to reach your maximum potential or self-actualization”

Are There Obstacles On The Journey Up The Mountain? Yes!

“I’ve come up against many obstacles, mudslides and avalanches – personal and professional”

“With every setback, I’ve learned, regrouped, and continued to climb, fueled by renewed confidence that virtually anything is possible – if you’re willing to work hard and learn from the inevitable failures along the way”

“I learned to stop focusing on what you can’t do and, instead, think about new ways it can get done”

“What we think or what we believe is, in the end, of little consequence. The only consequence is what we do”

“What we do with our lives is a choice. And we create a happy journey by choosing to be connected to others and to engage in meaningful work. You can write the script of your own life”

“We can’t ignore the fact that some of us may be deprived of the ability to make these choices in our lives”

“We don’t choose the circumstances and environments of our early childhood years, but that’s where our personal principles are formed. However, you are not just a product of your experiences – you’re also a product of what you do with those experiences. It’s all up to each of us to take what we’re given and maximize our success and happiness”

“Ability (education) x effort x attitude = success and happiness
Attitude is the most important factor”
